Award winning author, producer and documentary filmmaker Joan Shenton is currently making a film based upon her acclaimed publication 'Positively False' and over twenty years of film and video material. This documentary makes use of remarkable archive footage to tell the story of the challenge to HIV as the cause of AIDS, and paints a fascinating picture of collusion between science and commerce. It raises disturbing questions about the relationship between scientific analysis, public health and commercial interest. It highlights stories, key moments and participants in this historic challenge to a prevailing scientific oligarchy and hostile media establishment.

After the screening of 'House of Numbers' there will be a short discussion, a chance to meet and talk with Joan Shenton and the filming of some interviews with interested and agreeable members of the audience.

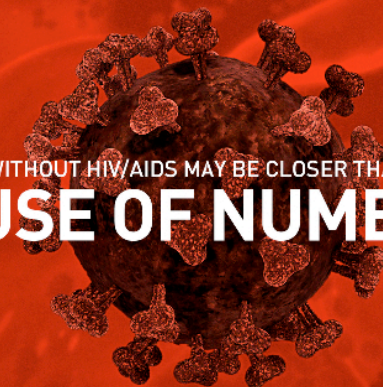

Refreshments available at the bar .
